“eplatforms have designed a website that suits both the needs of the company and that our of customers. They listened to our ideas and developed them in a clear and easy to use format. On going support has been invaluable and easy to obtain.”

Siesta Crafts

Retail and Wholesale Website Website Produced: www.siestacrafts.co.uk

“As predominantly a wholesaler we approached eplatforms to create a vibrant and exiting website to expand into retail mail order. With a great deal of understanding to our needs they have produced an excellent product, not only in the effectiveness of the sales it has generated but also in its ease of use and management behind the scenes.”

“Since the success of this initial project, we have happily returned to them to expand the website for our wholesale customers to use. We now also use their hosting services and continue to be impressed by the level service. We would highly recommend this company to anybody.”

American Express, UK Corporate and Consumer Travel ADM

Helping to provide an electronic solution to ADM control sheets

“Simon provided, at all times a high level of service showing an exceptional level of commitment to this product.”

HTEQA Services Ltd

Interactive External Quality Assessment programme for hospital laboratories

“The team at eplatforms are helpful and friendly. They understand that clients may not fully appreciate their own needs at the beginning of a project. They are flexible enough to work closely with the client throughout the development so that the end product is right for the client”

Oxford Consultants for Social Inclusion (OCSI)

Server and VPN Network Installation

“Excellent follow-up service to the initial network and server installation. Fast, knowledgeable and helpful – recommended!”

i-ZAC International

Business Development and Marketing Strategy

“We wanted a strategy for our growth in South Korea. By working with eplatforms they helped us create a platform for growth and secured distribution rights of all the major Formula One brand for supply of clothing, which in turn took our main competitor out of business!”

neo:creative

Sussex Environment Partnership Content Management System Website Produced: www.thinkingforward.org.uk

“We gave eplatforms the brief of developing a Content Management System that enabled our client to simply update all pages of their website without compromising the page design that we had created for them.”

“The final solution was a flexible and user-friendly CMS. Our client was thrilled with the result.”

Elmeridge Cables Ltd

In-House Database Development

“We were introduced to eplatforms early in 2004, We had an initial conversation on the phone to establish what had gone wrong with our database. Simon sounded pretty confident on the phone that he could get our hybrid Access Database working correctly. He made an appointment for the following week.”

“Simon came out, had a quick look and within an hour was off with a downloaded copy of our database (having signed a confidentiality agreement).”

“Within a few days he was back with a new look database and a working one. We were so pleased, we found him to be quick efficient and very cost effective, what more can you ask of a computer company these days”

Supplier Testimonials

Fedex

“I would just like to commend your developers on integrating with the FedEx Web Services solution so quickly for Urban Industries. I have completed many Web Services integration with other customers that have sometimes taken months. Your developers were courteous, professional and displayed a very high level of knowledge regarding Web Services. All of the integration was completed remotely via email and phone which makes it more impressive.

I look forward to working with you again and will definitely recommend you if I come across any customers that are looking for a developer to complete their FedEx Web Service Integration.”

Jeff Booth FedEx EMEA – Customer Technology Solutions Integrator

Capscan

“Having partnered with eplatforms for over two years, I am delighted with how this commercial relationship is progressing. eplatforms have successfully integrated our Capscan OnDemand addressing solution into numerous client websites, allowing them to benefit from real-time data capture and address validation. These integrations have been carried out quickly and efficiently, with very little, if any, assistance from Capscan. I am delighted that both organisations share a passion for delivering customer excellence, and look forward to progressing this mutually profitable relationship in the future.”
